simply safe | september

by Jerry Tallinger - Cupertino CERT member

How Safe Are You in Your Own Home?

I am sure all of you feel safe and secure in your own home, but are you really? Once a year or more you should do a 'home safety check'. With the onset of fall and winter, this is a great time.

First let's look at electrical safety. Check all of you outlets and look for signs of charring shown by black marks around the outlet holes. Next, if you use any extension cords for lamps, computers, chargers, or small appliances, check the cords for signs of fraying and replace cords with any suspicious wear. If you have any fixed lights or wall switches which spark when turned on or off or light fixtures which don't always work properly, have an electrician to repair or replace them. Make sure all outlets near sinks, showers, tubs or other wet areas have a Ground Fault Interrupter or GFI outlet installed.

Next, let's look at fire safety. Do you have enough smoke detectors in your home and have you changed the battery lately? According to the National Fire Prevention Association there should be a smoke detector on every level of the house and outside every bedroom. Smoke detectors need to be mounted on the ceiling at least 4 inches away from any wall. Batteries should be replaced at least once a year or when the smoke detector starts 'chirping' to warn of low battery power. Also, if your smoke detector is more than 10 years old, it should be replaced.

Additionally, a new California law states that all homes must be equipped with a carbon monoxide (CO) detector as of July 1, 2011. Yes, if you don't have one, you are in violation of the law. Carbon monoxide is known as the 'silent killer' because you can't see it or smell it. Failure to comply with the law could mean a fine of up to $200, but owners will have 30 days to correct the problem first. The Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC) recommends it be located near the sleeping area or bedroom, where it can wake you if you are asleep and placing one on every other level of your home provides extra protection against carbon monoxide poisoning. CO monitors should be placed at mattress level or in a lower electrical outlet.

Fall is a great time to do a garage and walkway clean out to remove dangerous clutter which could cause injury, become a health or fire hazard. Be sure to clean the area around your water heater and furnace of any combustibles which could be a fire hazard as colder weather arrives. Also, it is a good time to shake up any powder based fire extinguishers to keep the powder from settling to the bottom and compacting and next check the gauge on your fire extinguishers to see if it needs replacing. If you do not have a home fire extinguisher, now is a good time to buy one. Look for one which covers 'A, B, & C' class fires and is at least a 5 pound size for the kitchen area and 10 pound for garage or home workshop use.

Remember Cupertino CERT teaches classes on emergency preparedness including how to keep safe at home.

Help in the Upcoming Citywide Exercise for Emergency Preparedness

On October 21 - 22 Cupertino will conduct a citywide emergency preparedness drill. The purpose is to see how prepared we are for a large scale emergency, such as a large earthquake or weather related emergency. The city has ARKs (reporting stations) around the City to report incidents and get emergency information and some basic assistance. During the drill it would help if untrained residents go to the ARKs to find out what is available and maybe even have some fun reporting a 'fake' incident (person trapped, fire, gas leak, etc) so the CERT member can practice how to handle the situation. There is still time to get trained to help out. Contact Cupertino Office of Emergency Services (OES) at 408.777.3335, or email OES@cupertino.org. Put the date on your calendar and pitch in. More information will be available as the date comes closer.

Upcoming Public Sessions:

FREE! Personal Emergency Preparedness Workshop (PEP) Earthquake safety, Disaster preparation, Disaster communication tips, First Aid techniques, Home Safety, Fire Safety including how to use a fire extinguisher, Emergency supply suggestions - and more. The next PEP class is on Saturday, September 24, 9 am - noon, Cupertino City Hall, 10300 Torre Ave. For registration contact: stephanie.morrison@cnt.sccgov.org or call 408.341.4422.

Community Emergency Response Team (CERT) training schedule. Learn to be part of the disaster response solution. This is an intensive training session on preparedness and helping others during a disaster. Must be able to attend all classes

roots | Back to School

by Gail Fretwell-Hugger

Summer is winding down – school is in session - corridors and classrooms are full of energetic students. Many years ago, the beginning of school in September depended on the prune harvest. All the prunes in the valley had to be picked, dipped, dried and gathered in before school could commence. Children worked alongside parents and hired workers to get the prune harvest done. Sometimes school started a little after Labor Day... sometimes a week or two weeks later, depending on how soon the prunes were ready to be picked and processed.

Let's look at Cupertino's earliest schools. The State School Act of 1885 stipulated that schools were to be at least 2 miles apart and Cupertino was apportioned 4 schools: San Antonio, Lincoln, Collins and Doyle - K through 8th grade. The only survivor of the original 4 is Collins School on

Although not one of the original 4, the longest running school on its' original site is tiny Montebello School, built in 1892 and situated high above the valley on Montebello Road. It was in continuous operation for well over 100 years. Sadly the little school closed its' doors a few years back because of declining enrollment. There just weren't enough students in the foothills anymore to warrant keeping it open.

The early schoolteachers for these one-room schools taught between 20 and 40 students. It was not unusual to have an 18 year old in the 5th grade as many students could only attend school when work on the farms and ranches permitted. The teachers were proficient in all subjects and great emphasis was placed on spelling and penmanship (a lost art these days). Their salaries were $85.00 a month. The women teachers wore starched shirtwaists, high the corner of Homestead Rd and Sunnyvale-Saratoga Rd. It is now the home of the Cupertino De Oro Club. Collins school was named after one of Cupertino's many retired ship captains.

Lincoln School was named in memory of President Abraham Lincoln, shortly after his assassination in 1865. There is a funny story about the little one story original Lincoln School. At first it sat on the property of S. P. Taylor - on the southeast corner of Prospect Rd and Mt. View-Saratoga Rd (also known as Sunnyvale-Saratoga Rd, old Highway 9 and in Cupertino it is now called De Anza Blvd). Across the road lived another rancher, Peter Ball. Mr. Ball felt he had a more desirable location for the school and rivalry developed. One day when Mr. Taylor was away in San Jose, Mr. Ball hitched up his team of draft horses. With the help of several neighbors, ropes and rollers, the little schoolhouse was moved across the road to Mr. Ball's property. Although Taylor was dismayed to lose the prestige of having the school on his land, he reluctantly gave in and later on Mr. Ball built a new and spacious two story schoolhouse, finishing it in 1878. The present day Abraham Lincoln School sits on McClellan Road in the Monta Vista area of Cupertino.

The children wore home-made clothes, including undergarments fashioned out of made-over flour, sugar and feed sacks, accompanied by droopy cotton stockings. Boys wore knickers or denim overalls and heavy boots known as "clodhoppers". In rainy weather the students had coats made of rubberized cloth. Girls helped their mothers make their school dresses on old fashioned treadle sewing machines after selecting patterns from the Delineator Pattern Books and buying cotton cloth at the dry goods store.

At noon the children got their home-made food out of handy lunch pails which included lard pails, emptied tobacco tins or pasteboard boxes with imitation leather handles. Outside the school, boys played baseball; other games played were marbles, spinning tops, flying kites and tag. After the noontime recess, the teacher rang a bell and all the students trooped back into the schoolroom. Older children often helped the younger students with their lessons while the teacher worked with other children.

Next month we'll take a look at the subjects and books students used in these early schools.

Need to Drain Your Pool?

Residents that need to drain their pool or spa this season should be aware of steps that must be taken to protect city creeks.

Don’t drain pool water to the streets. If pool water is pumped directly into the gutter, it will flow into a storm drain, and straight into one of Cupertino’s creeks. The chlorine and pool chemicals in pool water are a threat to aquatic creatures in the creeks – so draining into the gutter is prohibited by City ordinance.

Pool water must be discharged to landscaping or pumped into the home’s sanitary sewer “clean-out.” Before a pool is drained, the pool owner or the pool technician should call the Cupertino Sanitary District at 253-7071. District staff can provide assistance in finding the home’s “clean-out” and answer questions about the appropriate pumping flow rate and technique, and the right time of day to drain the pool. To obtain a brochure to guide you through the pool draining process, visit www.cupertino.org/environmental, and click on Stormwater Runoff Pollution Prevention, or call the City at 408.777.3354.
