NEW CITY ATTORNEY BEGINS 2016 IN CUPERTINO

CUPERTINO, CA – The City of Cupertino has hired Randolph Stevenson Hom to serve as its new City Attorney. He replaces Carol Korade, who retired on October 31st. Randy joins City of Cupertino on January 4, 2016.

Randy is a Bay Area native and received his Bachelor of Arts from the University of California, Berkeley, and his Juris Doctorate from Golden Gate University School of Law in San Francisco. He served as an editor of the Law Review, and received the American Jurisprudence Award for Legal Writing and Research. His Professional experience includes service as a prosecutor for the enforcement arm of the State Bar of California, and as a criminal prosecutor for the City of Los Angeles. His work at full service cities, such as Los Angeles, Hayward, and San Jose includes the civil defense of sworn officers, and the representation of the City in matters arising out of wrongful death, employment practices, dangerous conditions, public contracts, and land use.

About starting at the City of Cupertino, Randy said: "I am greatly honored to serve the City of Cupertino, and look forward to the opportunity to work with City Council and City Staff to help this community navigate a path into the twenty-first century that is inclusive, fair, and in compliance with state and federal law."

The City Attorney leads, plans, and directs all legal services for the City and provides counsel to the City Manager, staff, City Council, and citizen boards and commissions.

Cupertino, CA, is on the western edge of Silicon Valley against the foothills of the Santa Cruz Mountains. With a population of 62,000 within 13 square miles, Cupertino is 42 miles south of San Francisco and home to many high-tech companies, most notably Apple, Inc.
