Learn All About It!

Tuesday, September 19, 7:15am-3pm

San Francisco Chronicle

Ever thought about what it takes for the news to land in your front yard every morning or on your television in the evening? Then join us for a day in San Francisco and discover the inner workings of local media.

Start the day with a docent-led tour of the newsroom, a light breakfast, and sit in on the news briefing meeting at the San Francisco

Chronicle. This newspaper was founded in January 1865, and has provided daily news to the San Francisco Area since.

Next we visit KQED Television, then enjoy lunch. Turn the page for details!

Learn All About It!

Tuesday, September 19, 7:15am-3pm

Midday we will visit KQED where we will have a docent-led tour of the television and radio studios. KQED Television is one of the nation's most-watched public television stations during primetime.

Since first airing in 1954, KQED has been an integral part of the Bay Area's media and cultural landscape. The station produces and airs more local and national programs than any other public television station and collaborates with filmmakers and documentary producers from across the country.

After our tour, we will enjoy a no-host lunch at the Ferry Building Marketplace, located within the historic Ferry Building at the foot of Market Street. Options for lunch include Slanted Door, S.F. Fish Company, Gott's Roadside Market Bar, and much more. Leave room for ice cream at Humphrey Slocombe!

Also enjoy time to explore the multitude of specialty shops located in the market place.

ACTIVITY LEVEL: Moderate; two 45 minute walking tours, walking at your own pace for lunch

COST:
$82

TRIP INCLUDES: 2 Docent-Led Tours, Light Breakfast, Transportation, Tips and Travel Staff
