Yule at the Oakland Zoo

Saturday, December 1, 9:00am-4:00pm

The Oakland Zoo's highly anticipated California Trail is now open to the public. The expansion more than doubles the zoo's current size from 45 acres to 100 acres.

New native California animal species have settled into their expansive new habitats - among the largest in the world and designed under the collaboration of animal behavior experts, wildlife experts, and notable habitat design experts. These species include American Buffalo, Black Bears, Grizzly Bears, Brown Bears, Mountain Lions, California Condors, Gray Wolves and Bald Eagles.

California Trail gondolas transport guests on a four-minute ride up and over the rolling hills of Knowland Park to the California Trail site from the main Zoo. There, at 650 feet above sea-level, the gondolas arrive at the 3-story Kaiser Permanente Visitor Center which houses the Landing Cafe, a floor-to-ceiling glass-walled restaurant serving artisan menu items.

An observation deck at the restaurant provides panoramic views of the six Bay Area counties. You can enjoy chef-inspired cuisine while taking in breathtaking views for one of your several no-host lunch options.

Spend a festive day exploring the award-winning Oakland Zoo.
