Regnart Creek is Going to Council

Regnart Creek is in the design phase! This means that engineers are working to finalize the details of the trail's design. Specifically, how wide the trail will be, where fences could be installed, how intersection crossings could be handled, and other details. On Tuesday, May 21, Cupertino City Council will be presented with the 65% design. This design is complete enough to give the City Council a good idea of what to expect from the final. It's an excellent opportunity for engineers to take input on potential changes.

Earth Day Bike Rides & Festival

At this meeting, council will either endorse the design as is, make improvement suggestions, or if they feel that the community is not in support of the project, they could kill it. If you have an opinion about whether we need the trail, this council meeting would be a good venue for you to voice your opinion.
