City Emergency Order Requires Public to Wear Face Coverings

The City of Cupertino has issued an Emergency Order requiring the use of face coverings for everyone when working or obtaining essential goods and services outside of their homes as an additional measure to stop the spread of COVID-19. The Order goes into effect on Friday, April 24 at Noon and currently has no end date.

"The wearing of face coverings outside our homes will become increasingly important to everyone's health and safety as the economy is reopened and people begin to congregate again in public. The use of face coverings, along with proper social distancing and other evidence-based health measures, has been shown to slow the spread of COVID-19," said City Manager Deborah L. Feng. Open For Business - See Which Cupertino Businesses Are Open to Serve the Community

Some Cupertino businesses, including grocery stores, supermarkets, coffee shops, restaurants and more, continue to operate during the County of Santa Clara's "Shelter in Place" period. The City of Cupertino continues to update its Open for Business page, which highlights essential businesses still operating in Cupertino. Recent changes include the reopening of Pineapple Thai (at Main Street Cupertino) and Starbucks (at Cupertino Crossroads), and local bank branches with adjusted hours. For more information, visit www.cupertino.org/OpenForBusiness.

Thank you for supporting our local businesses as they work to support our community!

City Distributes Thousands of Masks to Local Businesses

This past week Mayor Steven Scharf and City staff distributed thousands of disposable masks to Cupertino essential businesses currently operating to serve our community. These masks were generously donated by local business DK 76 Gas Station and Steve Sze for the well-being of the Cupertino community. Masks are meant for immediate use during the COVID-19 pandemic by workers and to be given to customers free of charge.

Creating Positive & Healthy Community Connections

Although the City's Parks and Recreation Department has had to close its facilities and cancel recreation classes, it is still committed to being a resource for fun, education, and healthy activities to help you get through these stressful times.

Parks & Recreation is offering FREE live fitness classes that you can livestream from home via the Zoom app. All ages are welcome to join these classes! Click here for the current schedule.

Each Friday, the City will post a fun activity for residents of all ages on its website and social media platforms. These activities will allow our community to write, draw, dance, sing, and laugh together while at home. Make sure to share your experiences by posting photos and videos to your social media accounts with the hashtag #CupertinoCares, or post in the comment sections.
