Angan was born and raised in Kolkata, India. He came to the United States in Fall 2003 where he attended the University of Cincinnati, OH. Out of several pleasant memories, the two notable ones are – (1) Angan graduated with a PhD in EE, and (2) He met his future wife, Torsha. They have been Cupertino residents since 2015 and have two kids, Titli and Tintin, currently attending Faria elementary. Angan works in Hardware CAD at Apple, where he feels fortunate to work with some very bright and motivated colleagues. In his spare time, he loves miscellaneous outdoor activities like running and swimming. He is also a great foodie and enjoys exploring local food joints. Angan is actively involved in several volunteering opportunities like Faria school site council, and philanthropic causes like Fiat Lux Foundation.
